

BRIGANDS TREAT MISS STONE WELL

Send to Constantinople to Get Her
Kodak Films.

THE RANSOM MUST BE PAID

If it is Not forthcoming in Thirty
Days, She Will be Put to Death
Or Married to a Bandit.

Paris, Sept. 28.—A Paris newspaper correspondent sends word to the Figaro on the staff of which he is employed, that he has just returned from a visit to Miss Ellen M. Stone, of the American board of foreign missions, who is held by brigands in a mountainous region of Turkey.

The correspondent wires that he succeeded in locating Miss Stone in an almost inaccessible mountain defile. The chief of the outlaws permitted the correspondent to see Miss Stone and talk with her. Miss Stone told her visitor that she had been treated with exceeding courtesy ever since her capture. Two brigands were detailed to act as her personal servants, providing her with good food and showing her every attention. The brigands had instructions to obey her merest whim and to show with what degree of consideration she was treated she told the newspaper man that having exhausted all of the funds of her kodak, she had said that she wished she had more. The desire was repeated to the chief of the brigands who at once posted a courier off to Constantinople to secure a supply for her. This meant a week of steady traveling by mule over dangerous and rocky mountain paths.

The leader of the brigands told the correspondent that unless a ransom of $150,000 was forthcoming within thirty days Miss Stone would either be put to death or compelled to marry one of the bandits. It is believed that the bandit will keep his promise.

The situation recalls the capture by those same brigands in the same region six years ago of Mme. Gerard de Trino, a beautiful French woman who is now a Carmelite nun. Through the dishonesty of a Turkish official by whom the ransom was negotiated, the money failed to reach the bandits. The lovely French girl was therefore forced to become the wife of a member of the outlaw gang. She was rescued several months later in a battle in which her father killed her bandit husband.

Padreski's Ambition.

New York, Sept. 28.—Padreski is desirous of duplicating as a composer in America the tremendous success which he has had there as a pianist, and is arranging for an early visit, says the London correspondent of the World. Before concluding the arrangement with Maurice Grau by which his opera "Maurice" is to be produced at the Metropolitan opera house in New York city, he insisted upon the engagement for the title role of Bandrowski, a Polish tenor whose impersonation satisfied him. He has now decided to prepare the production under his own personal supervision and to take part in the first performance.

In order to do this he has cancelled his concert tours in Italy and Spain, which will give him the time to make the trans-Atlantic trip. He has also decided to begin his tours in Germany and Austria next month.

THE LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

Of Prest. McKinley Bequeathes All
His Real Estate to His Wife.

A BEQUEST TO HIS MOTHER.

Value of Property is About $250,000—
This Includes Life Insurance of $67,000.

Canton, O., Sept. 27.—Secy. Cortelyou came here today to assist Mrs. McKinley in disposing of matters connected with the late President's estate. After meeting Mrs. McKinley, the question of filing the will was taken up. The trying task of reading it to her was undertaken by the faithful secretary, Mrs. McKinley made an heroic effort to bear up and succeeded in doing so, although the ordeal was hard for her. Tonight she is resting well.

All legal formalities necessary for her to subscribe to were disposed of. This afternoon Judge Day and Secy. Cortelyou went to the office of the probate judge to have the will of President McKinley probated. They carried with them the following:

"I, Ida McKinley, widow of William McKinley, deceased, hereby decline the administration of his estate, and recommend the appointment of William R. Day and George B. Cortelyou as administrators of the will annexed."

This recommendation bears the date of Sept. 27, 1901. Following is the text of President McKinley's will:

"Executive Mansion, Washington, D. C., I publish the following as my last will and testament, hereby revoking all former wills:

"To my beloved wife, Ida S. McKinley, I bequeath all of my real estate, wherever situated, and the income of any personal property of which I may be possessed at death, during her natural life. I make the following charge upon all of my property, both real and personal: To pay my mother during her lifetime $1,000 a year, and at her death said sum to be paid to my sister, Helen McKinley. If the income from property be insufficient to keep my wife in great comfort and pay the annuity above provided, then I direct that such of my property be sold as to make a sum adequate for both purposes.

"Whatever property remains at the death of my wife, I give to my brother and sisters, share and share alike. My chief concern is that my wife, from my estate, shall have all she requires for her comfort and pleasure, and that my mother shall be provided with whatever money she requires to make her old age comfortable and happy.

"Witness my hand and seal this 22nd day of October, 1897, to my last will and testament, made at the city of Washington, D. C.

(Signed.) WILLIAM MCKINLEY.
(Seal.)

"The foregoing will was witnessed by us this 22nd day of October, 1897, at the request of the testator, and his name signed hereto in our presence and our signatures hereto in the presence." (Signed.) "G. B. CORTELYOU."

It is given out on authority that the McKinley estate will total $225,000, including life insurance of $67,000. Aside from the $67,000 mentioned, the estate consists of real estate here and abroad, and deposits in Washington banks. Monday morning has been fixed by the probate court for a hearing prior to probating the will. Then it is expected, Secy. Cortelyou and Judge Day will be finally appointed administrators of the estate, with will annexed, and will give bond.

The will is in the President's own handwriting, and is on executive mansion letter paper.

WABASH TRAIN WRECKED.

Injured and Many More Hurt

The entire train, consisting of mail and baggage cars, two day coaches, a chair car and Pullman sleeper, rolled down an eighteen-foot embankment and turned bottomside up. The engine alone remained upright, stopping with the forward trucks on the edge of the bridge over Indian creek. The train carried nearly a hundred passengers, and, miraculously, it seems, none were killed. Three were fatally injured, sixteen seriously hurt and a score of others received minor bruises.

Mrs. Handy, Shenandoah, Ia.; internally serious.

Mrs. Addy received a scalp wound which required several stitches and had a narrow escape from death.

A score of others were more or less injured, some having gashes caused by glass and broken seats. Most of the injured were taken to farmhouses until relief could arrive, and later were removed to hospitals here and at Council Bluffs.

The train was running about thirty miles an hour when the accident happened. All the cars were badly damaged and there were several narrow escapes. When Mr. Addy was taken out it was from under a large car truck which had been jammed in beside him, just missing his head. The little daughter of A. H. Wilson was sleeping in a coat rack over the seat and was thrown across the car. It will probably die.

Capt. Hoffer was thought to have been due to spreading of the rails.

Scrofula

THE OFFSPRING
OF HEREDITARY BLOOD TAIN.

Scrofula is but a modified form of Blood Poison and Consumption. The parent who is tainted by either will see in the child the same disease manifesting itself in the form of scurf, glands of the neck and throat, catarrh, weak eyes, offensive sores and abscesses and of tentacles white swelling—sure signs of Scrofula. There may be no external signs for a long time, for the disease develops slowly in some cases, but the poison is in the blood and will break out at the first favorable opportunity. S. S. S. is a purifying and building up the blood and stimulating and invigorating the whole system.

J. M. Seal, 115 Public Square, Nashville, Tenn., says: "Ten years ago my daughter fell and cut her forehead. From this wound the glands on the side of her face became swollen and burst. Some of the best doctors here and elsewhere attended her without any benefit. We decided to try S. S. S. and a few bottles cured her entirely."

S. S. S. makes new and pure blood to nourish and strengthen the body, and is a positive and safe cure for Scrofula, whether inherited or acquired, and no remedy so thoroughly and effectively cleanses the blood. If you have a blood trouble, or your child has inherited some blood taint, take S. S. S. and get the blood in good condition and prevent the disease doing further damage.
